Lyrics:
Breathe. Please just breathe. Love. You'll learn to love and forgive.
I'm breaking apart. I'm waiting for you. I'm breaking apart. I'm waiting for you to see your wrong.
Breathe. Please just breathe. Time. Just take your time. Follow the waves.
I'm breaking apart. I'm waiting for you. I'm breaking apart. I'm waiting for you to see your wrong.
Breathe. Please just breathe. Breathe. Please just breathe.

Lyrics:
I hope your dad is doing fine. I hope your mom is the same. No I'm not even close to fine. But it's good to see your face.
I took a flight down to Caroline just hoping that we'd change. But somehow it got turned around. And I wish I never came.
And I'm wondering just where the good goes
And every time that I think of love. I'll always picture your face. My friends tell me that I'll be fine. They've never felt this way
And I'm wondering just where the good goes

She is electric love. She is the one.
And don't it make you sad to know that no one knows the real you? I'm hardly him

I'll pay the tithes you'll tell me once again. How you could never love me now
I'll turn the mast and ship this sail to sea. You'll carry on but not with me
And that's alright
I think the hardest part is letting go. But more than this I let you down
And that's not right
I'll turn the mast and ship this sail to sea. You'll carry on but not with me
And that's alright

9. South
Home is the thing I thought I'd find
I never thought I could rely in another persons shine
then I found your light
They say that this feeling just takes time
It's taking hold of everything and I wish that you were mine
Oh I miss when you were mine
Cause home is the thing I thought I'd find
Never could I rely in another persons shine
Then we fell in love
Just as quickly we fell out
Cause you were the place I could reside
And I think I said I'm sorry about a hundred million times
But I miss the way you shine

“She don’t see me here. As I fall. As I fall.
She just slides away. Someone else. Always so

Do you know these plastic dreams? They were with me till the end.
Do you ever think of me? Cause I once called you love

She don’t like to be alone. So she don’t. So she don’t.
And I know that life is hard. All alone. All alone.

Do you know these plastic dreams? They were with me till the end.
Do you ever think of me? Cause I once called you love”
